

CUBICLE AND DECORATIVE CURTAINS

When we were called in to consult to “make a more positive patient experience and enhance patient satisfaction” in the basement CAT scanner suite shown above, we found a tan walled room with a tan scanner and tan floor. There was no hint that a healthy outdoor world even existed.

We immediately suggested bringing in the colors green, blue and white in the form of painting sky blue walls, a 6' x 6' corner through-bore wall mural, a blue sky/white clouds ceiling transparency, and a 12' long photographic curtain mural of local mountain scenery. This curtain was printed on a woven polyester fabric with medium translucency, as we intended to light it from behind like a stained glass window. The photo curtain replaced the less interesting existing curtain, giving incoming patients and staff a chance to momentarily gaze at “distant” scenery and relax, all in a windowless basement.

A more opaque version of this mural curtain is a natural solution for bringing enveloping naturescapes to cubicle enclosures. With the curtains, as with all of our photographs, we hope to create a place of visual rest and refreshment. Incorporating images of natural subjects into your medical facility has a number of advantages. The environment as a whole benefits from the welcoming, uplifting and refreshing comfort of natural imagery. Patients, visitors, and staff appreciate and benefit from the calming atmosphere generated by viewing the photographs.

Placing this curtain artwork in waiting and treatment areas can facilitate patients’ positive visualizations, offering them a path away from negative states and temporary relief from stress and anxiety. Our clients have told us that the ready connection with nature that we supply facilitates healing and well being.

The preceding example was for a project with a stock image. For these smaller curtains, we can provide imagery from our existing collection, helping to keep overall costs lowered. Larger curtains may draw from our wall mural imagery, or we will be happy to quote on supplying commissioned images. The image portion of the curtain may be up to eight feet in height. Code requires a minimum of 18" of mesh at the top of the curtain for fire sprinklers to remain effective. Our curtains fill in the height between eight feet and your ceiling height with a woven mesh with anti-microbial coating. Prices are of course dependant on specifications for the specific project, and we will gladly provide quotations by request. A rough guide places the current cost of the curtains with stock image plus mesh to your ceiling height at $15/sq. ft. at 8' x 8' to less than $13/sq. ft. at 8' x 20'. These rough prices do not include freight and assume the reuse of your current track and hanging system. Please see more complete specifications below.

Please write or call for our assistance in imagining and then realizing a developed plan for curtains in your facility, you will find us to be very creative, energetic and eager to exceed your expectations both in design and fulfillment.
